

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The simulator is provided with a control section that gathers the parameters of a plurality of parts in a computer network and that thereby predicts a future state of the 5 computernetwork over a prescribed period of time. Further, a scenario creation/management creates a model corresponding to the computer network. Finally, simulation engine executes the simulation on the basis of the created model.